

History Internships Summer 2012

The Goldring/Woldenberg Institute of Southern Jewish Life, located in Jackson, Mississippi, is looking for summer interns to work with the director of its History Department. The Institute is dedicated to documenting, preserving, and interpreting the history of Jews living in the South. You can be a part of this exciting process of preserving the stories of past generations.

Duties may include:

- Historical research and writing
- Road trips to southern communities to collect historical documents and information
- Putting archival information on the ISJL website
- Transcribing & indexing oral histories
- Grant research and preparation
- Assist with development of interpretive projects

Interns will reside in Jackson, Mississippi and receive a stipend. The internship runs from June 4th to August 10th. The Institute will help locate lodging, though interns will be responsible for paying room and board.
